

THE DENVER PUBLIC LIBRARY

RICK J. ASHTON
City Librarian

September 22, 2000

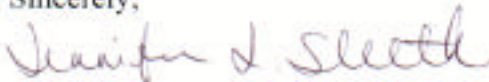

To Whom It May Concern:

As Program Coordinator for the Children's Library at the Denver Public Library, I have met and observed many local performers. None however, have been as well-received, by child and adult audiences, as One World Taiko.

Nancy Ozaki and Gary Tsujimoto of One World Taiko brought their unique show to the Denver Public Library this past July, playing to a full house. Of the 17 programs presented at the Children's Library this summer, One World Taiko drew the largest audience and received the highest praise from customers and staff members.

Ozaki and Tsujimoto are amazing to watch, their rhythms and enthusiasm infectious. A fun, musical, cultural experience, One World Taiko fuels the imagination. I highly recommend them for any venue.

Sincerely,

Jennifer J. Sleeth
Children's Librarian
Denver Public Library